2.0 Introduction

The Regulation and Quality Improvement Authority (RQIA) is empowered under The Health and Personal Social Services (Quality, Improvement and Regulation) (Northern Ireland) Order 2003 to inspect residential care homes. A minimum of two inspections per year are required.

This is a report of an unannounced secondary care inspection to assess the quality of services being provided. The report details the extent to which the standards measured during inspection were met.

3.0 Purpose of the inspection

The purpose of this unannounced inspection was to ensure that the service is compliant with relevant regulations and minimum standards and other good practice indicators and to consider whether the service provided to service users was in accordance with their assessed needs and preferences. This was achieved through a process of analysis and evaluation of available evidence.

RQIA not only seeks to ensure that compliance with regulations and standards is met but also aims to use inspection to support providers in improving the quality of services. For this reason, inspection involves in-depth examination of an identified number of aspects of service provision.

The aims of the inspection were to examine the policies, procedures, practices and monitoring arrangements for the provision of residential care, and domiciliary care and to determine the provider's compliance with the following:

- The HPSS (Quality, Improvement and Regulation) (Northern Ireland) Order 2003
- The Residential Care Homes Regulations (Northern Ireland) 2005
- The Department of Health, Social Services and Public Safety's (DHSSPS) Residential Care Homes Minimum Standards (2011)
- The Domiciliary Care Agencies Regulations (Northern Ireland) 2007
- The Department of Health, Social Services and Public Safety's (DHSSPS) Domiciliary Care Agencies Minimum Standards (2011)

Other published standards which guide best practice may also be referenced during the inspection process.

4.0 Methods/Process

Specific methods/processes used in this inspection include the following:

- Discussion with the registered provider / registered manager
- Examination of records
- Discussion with staff
- Consultation with residents individually and with others in groups
- Inspection of the premises
- Evaluation of findings and feedback

5.0 Inspection Focus

This inspection was carried out in response to a complaint received by RQIA in relation to recruitment and induction practices at Guardian Day Centre, Residential Care Home and within Jackie's domiciliary care agency.

The inspection sought to review the home and agencies compliance with Legislation and Minimum standards.

The inspector has rated the home's Compliance Level against each criterion and also against the standard. The table below sets out the definitions that RQIA has used to categorise the home's performance:

Guidance - Compliance Statements
Compliance statement	Definition	Resulting Action in Inspection Report
0 - Not applicable		A reason must be clearly stated in the assessment contained within the inspection report.
1 - Unlikely to become compliant		A reason must be clearly stated in the assessment contained within the inspection report.
2 - Not compliant	Compliance could not be demonstrated by the date of the inspection.	In most situations this will result in a requirement or recommendation being made within the inspection report.
3 - Moving towards compliance	Compliance could not be demonstrated by the date of the inspection. However, the service could demonstrate a convincing plan for full compliance by the end of the Inspection year.	In most situations this will result in a requirement or recommendation being made within the inspection report.
4 - Substantially compliant	Arrangements for compliance were demonstrated during the inspection. However, appropriate systems for regular monitoring, review and revision are not yet in place.	In most situations this will result in a recommendation, or in some circumstances a requirement, being made within the inspection report.
5 - Compliant	Arrangements for compliance were demonstrated during the inspection. There are appropriate systems in place for regular monitoring, review and any necessary revisions to be undertaken.	In most situations this will result in an area of good practice being identified and comment being made within the inspection report.

7.0 Summary of Inspection

This secondary unannounced care inspection of Guardian Day Centre, Guardian Residential home and Jackie's domiciliary care was undertaken by Bronagh Duggan and Amanda Jackson on 4 September 2014 between the hours of 10:45 am - 3:45pm. Mrs Jacqueline Ryan was available during the inspection and for verbal feedback at the conclusion of the inspection.

This inspection was undertaken in response to concerns raised with RQIA in relation to recruitment and induction practices of Guardian Daycentre, Residential Care Home and Jackie's domiciliary care agency. RQIA were informed about a situation where a new member of staff having completed a short period of induction and training was expected to take charge of night duty in the home unsupervised. The staff member was also asked to carry out domiciliary visits for Jackie's Domiciliary Care agency two days after having left employment at the home.

As the information received related to the practices of the residential care home and adjoining domiciliary care agency the findings from the inspection have been considered in relation to the Residential Care Homes Regulations (Northern Ireland) 2005 and The Domiciliary Care Agencies Regulations (Northern Ireland) 2007. Within this report Standard 19 Recruitment of Staff from the Residential Care Homes Minimum Standards (2011) and Standard 11 of the Domiciliary Care Agencies Minimum Standards (2011) and Regulation 13 and Schedule 3 of the Domiciliary Care Agencies Regulations were used as the template for reviewing recruitment practices.

During the inspection, inspectors viewed the files of six recently recruited members of staff, reviewed the recruitment processes within the home and domiciliary care agency, reviewed the orientation / induction periods for new staff members and also examined the content of the induction training.

Inspectors met with residents, spoke with one staff member on duty, and contacted another staff member via telephone to discuss the day to day arrangements in relation to the conduct of the home, and staff members experience of the recruitment and induction process. The inspectors also observed care practice, examined a selection of records and carried out a general inspection of the residential care home environment.

In discussion with residents they indicated that that they were happy and content with their life in the home, with the facilities and services provided and their relationship with staff.

The staff member who was on duty and the staff member contacted via telephone both indicated that they were supported in their roles. The staff members confirmed that they are provided with the relevant resources and training to undertake their respective duties. The recently recruited staff member who was contacted via telephone during the inspection confirmed to the inspector that they had shadowed other staff members for approximately one week upon commencement of employment. It was noted by inspectors that this information was not reflected in the staff members file.

Records reviewed during the inspection showed that on at least three occasions staff had commenced employment prior to two satisfactory references being obtained in advance. Induction records were incomplete, induction training was noted to have been completed over one day on at least one occasion and did not include all relevant mandatory training as stipulated in RQIA Guidance on Mandatory Training for Service Providers (September 2012). The induction booklet was also reviewed this was found to contain limited information around a limited number of areas. NISCC registration was not confirmed for four new staff members employed to work in the residential care home, this is not a requirement for staff working within the domiciliary care agency.

The duty rota was also examined during the inspection; this was found to be confusing with a number of changes made to same. It was noted by inspectors that dates and staffing levels did not match, the manager informed the inspectors that a staff member had recently reported sick however it was noted that with one staff member absent this did not explain the inconsistencies on the rota. Following this discussion the registered manager informed inspectors they had shown the wrong duty rota and provided a revised edition which continued to highlight inconsistencies.

Due to the issues which were identified during the inspection an urgent actions letter was left with the registered manager to address immediately the omissions in relation to the recruitment of staff. This included revision of the homes policies and procedures regarding recruitment, and the implementation of the revised procedures for all new staff recruited within the residential home, day care and domiciliary care services. A requirement was made that all staff should complete a full induction with appropriate records maintained, also the recruitment and induction records of the next six new staff employed by the home / agency should be forwarded to RQIA inspectors for review. The staff duty rotas for the month of September were also requested to be submitted to RQIA for review.

The findings from the inspection on 4 September 2014 substantiated the information that was made to RQIA in relation to recruitment and induction procedures at the home. Following the inspection an urgent actions letter was provided to Mrs Jacqueline Ryan registered provider / manager outlining the immediate action required ensuring the recruitment and induction practices at Guardian Day Centre and Residential Care Home, and Jackie's Domiciliary Care Agency complies with regulations and minimum standards.

One requirement made during the previous inspection on 6 November 2013 was also reviewed. The requirement stated that staff selected for appointment provide pre- employment evidence that the person is physically and mentally fit for the purposes of the work they have to perform in the home. Six files were viewed of recently recruited staff; five of these files contained a completed Health and Fitness Questionnaire which included a declaration that their GP can be contacted as necessary. The home was found to be substantially compliant in this regard.

Comments received from residents are included in section 10.0 of the main body of the report.

The areas of the environment viewed by the inspector presented as clean, organised, adequately heated and fresh smelling throughout. Décor and furnishings were found to be dated though fit for purpose.

Five requirements were made as a result of the secondary unannounced inspection, details can be found in the main body of the report and the attached Quality Improvement Plan (QIP).

The inspectors would like to thank the residents, registered manager / provider and staff for their assistance and co-operation throughout the inspection process.

10.0 Additional Areas Examined

10.1 Staff Induction / Orientation

Prior to the inspection RQIA had requested duty rotas from week beginning 28 July 2014 until week beginning 24 August 2014. This related to the time period when a new staff member was alleged to have been required to complete night duty without having received a proper induction to the service. Day and night duty rotas for this time period were reviewed these were found to include the names of three new staff members with designated orientation periods. According to information on the rota the orientation period for the new day staff members was carried out over a three day period and included the shadowing of other staff members. Information on the duty rotas also showed the orientation period for a new night duty staff member was two days in week one from 10am-2pm and 7pm- 9pm respectively, and 7pm - 9pm and 7am - 9am the following week. Following the orientation period the new staff member was on the rota to cover night duty alone. The induction and training records for the three newly appointed members of staff were also reviewed and showed that mandatory training as per RQIA guidance had not been completed, it was also noted that one staff member had not signed off their training records.

A review of training completed as part of the induction period showed that on one occasion a new staff member was recorded as having completed all mandatory training and read and understood the homes policy and procedure manual on the same day. Inspectors were not satisfied that this amount of information could be grasped in one day. Four other files reviewed showed that the induction training had been completed over 3-4 days.

An urgent actions letter was completed outlining the need to ensure all new staff complete a full induction period to ensure they have the necessary training to carry out the duties of the post. A requirement has been made in this regard.

10.2 Duty Rota

The staff duty rota was reviewed during the inspection. At the time of the inspection the registered manager and deputy manager were on duty. It was noted that the information contained on the rota had been changed a number of times for the week. Review of the rota showed it to be confusing, the rota did not reflect the staff which were on duty for the week or who was on night duty on the date of the inspection. The manager informed the inspectors that a member of staff had reported sick, however it was noted that this did not account for all the inconsistencies on the rota. The manager then informed the inspectors that the wrong duty rota had been provided, and presented a revised edition which continued to show inconsistencies.

The need for the duty rota to be current, accurate and reflective of staffing levels in the home was discussed with the registered manager and outlined in the urgent actions letter which was given to the registered manager at the conclusion of the inspection. The inspectors also requested that the duty rotas for the remaining weeks of September be forwarded to RQIA for review. A requirement has been made in this regard.

10.3 Resident's consultation

One of the inspectors' met with five residents individually and in groups. Residents were observed relaxing in the communal lounge area whilst others were resting in their bedrooms. In accordance with their capabilities, all residents indicated/expressed that they were happy and content with their life in the home, with the facilities and services provided and their relationship with staff. No concerns were expressed or indicated.

Comments received included:

"The girls are kind, I like having someone to talk to"

"I am happy here"

10.3 Staff consultation

One inspector spoke with the staff member on duty, and one contacted a recently recruited member of staff via telephone during the inspection. Discussion with staff identified that they were supported in their respective roles. Staff confirmed that they are provided with the relevant resources to undertake their duties. The recently recruited staff member who was contacted via telephone during the inspection confirmed to the inspector that they had shadowed other staff members for approximately one week upon commencement of employment. It was noted by inspectors that this information was not reflected in the staff members file.

10.4 Environment

One inspector viewed the home accompanied by Ms Mullen the deputy manager and alone and inspected a number of residents' bedrooms and communal areas. The areas of the environment viewed presented as clean, organised, adequately heated and fresh smelling throughout. Residents' bedrooms were observed to be homely and personalised. Décor and furnishings were found to be dated though fit for purpose.
