This policy and procedure needs to include clear details on the human rights implications of such practices.	Met
	Action taken as confirmed during the inspection: This policy and procedure had been revised accordingly.

4.3 Standard 14: The Death of a Resident is Respectfully Handled as They Would Wish

Is Care Safe? (Quality of Life)

Residents can and do spend their final days of life in the home. This is unless there is a documented health care need that prevents this.

In our discussions with staff in respect of this area of care, they advised that they considered care as compassionate. The registered manager provided us an example of how with the resident's wish, other residents and staff who wished to comfort a resident who was dying were enabled to. Other residents and staff have the opportunity to pay their respect and are provided with support if needed.

The registered manager explained to us that other residents are informed in a sensitive manner of the death of a resident.

The registered manager also explained to us when a death of a resident occurs, their belongings are handled with care and respect. The room is permitted to be vacant. The resident's next of kin or family take the lead in dealing with the deceased resident's belongings at a sensitive and convenient time after the burial.

The spiritual needs of the resident were assessed. In our discussions with staff we confirmed they had knowledge and understanding of residents' spiritual requests and choices at this time of care.

Is Care Effective? (Quality of Management)

Residents can spend their final days in the home unless there are documented health care needs to prevent this.

A care plan is put in place for each resident who is receiving palliative care by district nursing services.

We inspected three residents' care records and could confirm that a care plan was in place pertaining to this need. Details included arrangements with spiritual care, if so wished.

Is Care Compassionate? (Quality of Care)

The home has a policy pertaining to death of a resident. This policy was basic in detail however the registered manager reported to us that this is currently being revised. There is associated guidance available for staff.

Staff have received training in this area of care during their induction.

We inspected a sample of compliment letters and cards. Some were received from families of deceased residents. In these correspondences there were nice messages of praise and gratitude received during this period of care.

In our discussions with staff they demonstrated that they had knowledge and understanding of how to care for this area of need. Staff also advised us that there is a supported ethos with the management in the home.

Areas for Improvement

There were no areas of improvement identified with this standard inspected. The overall assessment of this standard considered this standard to be compassionate, safe and effective.

4.4 Theme: Residents Receive Individual Continence Management and Support

Is Care Safe? (Quality of Life)

Staff have received training in continence management. In our discussions with staff they also demonstrated knowledge and understanding of this area of care.

We inspected three residents' care records and found an individualised assessment and plan of care was in place. Issues of assessed need are referred to district nursing services.

The district nurse in consultation with the resident and the home prescribes a plan of care. This plan of care includes provision of incontinence aids.

From our observations we found there to be adequate supplies of aprons, gloves and hand washing dispensers.

In our discussions with staff, general observations together with a review of care records we identified no mismanagement of this area of care, such as malodours or breakdown of skin integrity.

Is Care Effective? (Quality of Management)

The home has a policy pertaining to continence management. This policy was basic in detail however the registered manager reported to us that this is currently being revised. There are also associated guidance and information available to staff.

Staff have received training in continence management at their induction.

Identified issues of assessed need are reported to district nursing services, for advice and direction.

Is Care Compassionate? (Quality of Care)

From our discreet observations of care practices we found that residents were treated with care, dignity and respected when being assisted by staff. Continence care was undertaken in a discreet private manner.

Areas for Improvement

There were no areas of improvement identified with this standard inspected. The overall assessment of this standard considered this standard to be compassionate, safe and effective.

Additional Areas Examined

We met with all the residents in the home. In accordance with their capabilities, they expressed or indicated that they were happy with their life in the home, their relationship with staff, and the provision of meals.

Some of the comments made included statements such as;

“They couldn’t look after us any better”

“Things are marvellous here”

“The staff are very kind to everyone”

“It’s the staff who make this home. I know all of them“

“The food is lovely”.

5.5.2 Relatives’ Views

We met with no visiting relatives.

5.5.3 Staff Views

We met with four staff of various grades. All spoke on a positive basis about the workload, teamwork, training, managerial support and staff morale. Staff informed us that they felt a good standard of care was provided for.

Seven staff questionnaires were distributed for return.

5.5.4 General Environment

We found the home to be clean and tidy, with good housekeeping arrangements in place. The general décor and furnishings was of a reasonable standard.

Residents’ bedrooms were comfortable with many facilitated with personal artefacts and memorabilia.

5.5.5 Accident/ Incident Reports

We inspected these reports from the previous inspection. These were found to be appropriately managed and reported.

5.5.6 Care Practices

Throughout our discreet observations of care practices we noted residents being treated with dignity and respect. Care duties were organised.

Staff interactions with residents were found to be polite, friendly, warm and supportive.

A nice homely atmosphere was in place, with residents being comfortable, content and at ease in their environment and interactions with staff.

A supportive practice of teamwork was found to be in place with residents benefitting from this.

An appetising, well presented dinner time meal was provided for. Staff were found to assist with residents' needs in an appropriate manner.

Residents were found to be engaged in pastimes of choice such as socialising with one another, watching television or resting.

5.5.7 Fire Safety

We reviewed the home's most recent fire safety risk assessment, dated 15 October 2014. This assessment had corresponding evidence that the three recommendations made were duly dealt with.

Fire safety training including fire safety drills were maintained on an up to date basis.

We observed no obvious risks within the environment in terms of fire safety, such as wedging opening of doors.

5.5.8 Complaints

A review of the record of complaints together with discussions with the registered manager confirmed that expressions of dissatisfaction are taken seriously and manager appropriately.

Areas for Improvement

There were no areas of improvement identified with these additional areas inspected. The overall assessment of these additional areas examined considered these to be compassionate, safe and effective.
