4.0 Inspection summary

An unannounced care inspection took place on 21 June 2018 from 10.30 to 14.00 hours.

This inspection was underpinned by The Residential Care Homes Regulations (Northern Ireland) 2005 and the DHSSPS Residential Care Homes Minimum Standards, August 2011.

The inspection sought to determine if the home was delivering safe, effective and compassionate care and if the service was well led.

Evidence of good practice was found in relation to staffing, induction, staff supervision and appraisal, and maintenance of good working relationships. Areas of good practice were also found in relation to management of care records, audits, management of complaints and incidents and governance.

No areas requiring improvement were identified during this inspection.

Feedback from residents, in accordance with their capabilities, throughout this inspection was all positive, in respect of their life in the home, the kindness and support received from staff, the provision of meals, activities and events and the general atmosphere in the home.

The findings of this report will provide the home with the necessary information to assist them to fulfil their responsibilities, enhance practice and resident experience.

6.0 The inspection

6.1 Review of areas for improvement from the most recent inspection dated 11 January 2018

The most recent inspection of the home was an unannounced care inspection.

6.2 Review of areas for improvement from the last care inspection dated 11 January 2018

There were no areas for improvements made as a result of the last care inspection.

6.3 Inspection findings

6.4 Is care safe?

Avoiding and preventing harm to patients and clients from the care, treatment and support that is intended to help them.

The registered manager advised that the staffing levels for the home were subject to regular review to ensure the assessed needs of the residents were met. Temporary or agency staff were not used in the home.

No concerns were raised regarding staffing levels during discussion with residents and staff. An inspection of the duty rota confirmed that it accurately reflected the staff working within the home.

An inspection of a completed induction record and discussion with the registered manager and staff evidenced that an induction programme was in place for all staff, relevant to their specific roles and responsibilities.

Discussion with staff confirmed that mandatory training, supervision and appraisal of staff were regularly provided. Schedules and records of training, supervision and appraisals were inspected during the inspection.

Discussion with the registered manager and staff confirmed that competency and capability assessments were undertaken for any person who is given the responsibility of being in charge of the home for any period in the absence of the manager. A staff competency and capability assessment was inspected and found to be satisfactory.

The home's recruitment and selection policy and procedure complied with current legislation and best practice. The registered manager advised that staff were recruited in line with Regulation 21 (1) (b), Schedule 2 of The Residential Care Homes Regulations (Northern Ireland) 2005 and that records were retained at governance office in its sister home, Hebron House. These records will be inspected at the next inspection to Hebron House.

The registered manager advised that AccessNI enhanced disclosures was undertaken for all staff prior to the commencement of employment.

Arrangements were in place to monitor the registration status of staff with their professional body (where applicable). Care staff spoken with advised that they were registered with the Northern Ireland Social Care Council (NISCC).

The adult safeguarding policy in place was consistent with the current regional policy and procedures. This included the name of the safeguarding champion, definitions of abuse, types of abuse and indicators, onward referral arrangements, contact information and documentation to be completed. The registered manager is planning to complete training in the role of the safeguarding champion. The role and function of the Adult Safeguarding Champion (ASC) and the necessity to complete the annual ASC position report from 1 April 2018 to 31 March 2019 was discussed.

Staff were knowledgeable and had a good understanding of adult safeguarding principles and had an awareness of child protection issues. They were also aware of their obligations in relation to raising concerns about poor practice and whistleblowing. An inspection of staff training records confirmed that mandatory adult safeguarding training was provided for all staff.

Discussion with the registered manager, inspection of accident and incidents notifications, care records and complaints records confirmed that if there were any suspected, alleged or actual incidents of abuse these would be fully and promptly referred to the relevant persons and agencies for investigation in accordance with procedures and legislation.

The registered manager stated there were risk management procedures in place relating to the safety of individual residents and the home did not accommodate any individuals whose assessed needs could not be met.

The registered manager advised that there were no restrictive practices within the home. There were no obvious restrictive practices observed at the time of this inspection.

There was an Infection Prevention and Control (IPC) policy and procedure in place which was in line with regional guidelines. Staff training records evidenced that all staff had received training in IPC in line with their roles and responsibilities. Discussion with staff established that they were knowledgeable and had understanding of IPC policies and procedures.

Inspection of the premises confirmed that there were wash hand basins, adequate supplies of liquid soap, alcohol hand gels and disposable towels wherever care was delivered. Personal Protective Equipment (PPE), e.g. disposable gloves and aprons, was available throughout the home. Observation of staff practice identified that staff adhered to IPC procedures.

Good standards of hand hygiene were observed to be promoted within the home among residents, staff and visitors. Notices promoting good hand hygiene were displayed throughout the home in both written and pictorial formats.

IPC compliance audits were undertaken and action plans developed to address any deficits noted.

The registered manager reported that there were no outbreaks of infection within the last year.

A general inspection of the home was undertaken. The home was clean and tidy with a good standard of décor and furnishings being maintained. Residents' bedrooms were found to be individualised with photographs, memorabilia and personal items. Communal areas were comfortable and nicely facilitated. A programme of redecoration was reported to being put in place for identified areas from an environmental audit undertaken by the home.

The grounds of the home were very well maintained.

Inspection of the internal and external environment identified that the home and grounds were kept tidy, safe, suitable for and accessible to residents, staff and visitors. There were no obvious hazards to the health and safety of residents, visitors or staff. No malodours were detected in the home.

The registered manager advised that the home's policy, procedures and risk assessments relating to safe and healthy working practices were appropriately maintained and reviewed regularly e.g. Control of Substances Hazardous to Health (COSHH), fire safety, hot surfaces and smoking etc. It was reported that there was no residents in the home who smoke.

The registered manager reported that they were aware of the "Falls Prevention Toolkit" and were using this guidance to improve post falls management within the home. Audits of accidents/falls were undertaken on a monthly basis and analysed for themes and trends; an action plan was developed to minimise the risk where possible. Referral was made to the trust falls team in line with best practice guidance.

A self-assessment questionnaire was given to provide details on the Legionella risk assessment and confirmation that actions were taken in response to any recommendations made from this assessment, if applicable.

The registered manager and review of Lifting Operations and Lifting Equipment Regulations (LOLER) records confirmed that safety maintenance records were up to date.

The registered manager advised that equipment and medical devices in use in the home were well maintained and regularly serviced. A recorded system was in place to regularly check the Northern Ireland Adverse Incidence Centre (NIAIC) alerts and action as necessary.

A self-assessment questionnaire was given to provide details on the fire safety risk assessment and confirmation that actions were taken in response to any recommendations made from this assessment, if applicable.

Inspection of staff training records confirmed that staff completed fire safety training twice annually. Fire drills were completed on a regular basis and records inspected confirmed these were up to date. The records also included the staff who participated and any learning outcomes. Fire safety records identified that fire-fighting equipment, fire alarm systems, emergency lighting and means of escape were checked on a regular and up to date basis. Individual residents had a completed Personal Emergency Evacuation Plan (PEEP) in place.

Five completed questionnaires were returned to RQIA from residents’ representatives. Respondents described their level of satisfaction with this aspect of care as very satisfied.

Areas of good practice

There were examples of good practice found throughout the inspection in relation to staffing, induction, staff supervision and appraisal and upkeep of the environment.

Areas for improvement

No areas for improvement were identified in respect of this domain during the inspection.

6.5 Is care effective?

The right care, at the right time in the right place with the best outcome

Discussion with the registered manager established that staff in the home responded appropriately to and met the assessed needs of the residents.

There was a records management policy in place which includes the arrangements for the creation, storage, maintenance and disposal of records. Records were stored safely and securely in line with data protection.

An inspection of three residents’ care records was undertaken. This confirmed that these were maintained in line with the legislation and standards. They included an up to date assessment of needs, life history, risk assessments, care plans and daily/regular statement of health and well-being of the resident. Care needs assessment and risk assessments (e.g. nutrition, falls, where appropriate) were reviewed and updated on a regular basis or as changes occurred.

The care records also reflected the multi-professional input into the residents’ health and social care needs and were found to be updated regularly to reflect the changing needs of the individual residents. Residents and/or their representatives were encouraged and enabled to be involved in the assessment, care planning and review process, where appropriate. Care records inspected were observed to be signed by the resident and/or their representative.

Care records were maintained in an organised, methodical manner with good access to information.

An individual agreement setting out the terms of residency was in place and appropriately signed.

Discussion with staff confirmed that a person centred approach underpinned practice. Staff were able to describe in detail how the needs, choices and preferences of individual residents were met within the home. For example staff could readily identify residents' individual social care needs and preferences and how these were facilitated.

A varied and nutritious diet was provided which meets the individual and recorded dietary needs of residents. Systems were in place to regularly record residents' weights and any significant changes in weight were responded appropriately. There were arrangements in place to refer residents to dietitians and speech and language therapists (SALT) as required. Discreet observations of the supervision and assistance with the lunch time meal found that this was undertaken in an unhurried, organised manner with a nice ambience in place for residents to enjoy their meal.

Staff advised that they were able to recognise and respond to pressure area damage in relation to the skin and would refer to the appropriate member of the multi-professional team as necessary. It was reported that there were no residents in the home with skin integrity damage.

The registered manager advised that there were arrangements in place to monitor, audit and review the effectiveness and quality of care delivered to residents at appropriate intervals. Audits of risk assessments, care plans, care review, accidents and incidents (including falls, outbreaks), complaints, environment were available for inspection and evidenced that any actions identified for improvement were incorporated into practice. An audit of the environment was being undertaken at the time of this inspection by the home. This is good practice. Further evidence of audit was contained within the reports of visits by the registered provider.

The registered manager advised that systems were in place to ensure effective communication with residents, their representatives and other key stakeholders. These included multi-professional team reviews, residents' meetings, staff meetings and staff shift handovers.

Observation of practice evidenced that staff were able to communicate effectively with residents. Staff interactions with residents were observed to be polite, friendly, warm and supportive.

Discussion with the staff confirmed that management operated an open door policy in regard to communication within the home.

An inspection of care records, along with accident and incident reports, confirmed that referral to other healthcare professionals was timely and responsive to the needs of the residents.

Five completed questionnaires were returned to RQIA from residents' representatives. Respondents described their level of satisfaction with this aspect of care as very satisfied.

Areas of good practice

There were examples of good practice found throughout the inspection in relation to the management of care records, audits and reviews, communication between residents, staff and other interested parties.

Areas for improvement

No areas for improvement were identified in respect of this domain during the inspection.

6.6 Is care compassionate?

Patients and clients are treated with dignity and respect and should be fully involved in decisions affecting their treatment, care and support.

A range of policies and procedures was in place which supported the delivery of compassionate care.

The registered manager advised that staff in the home promoted a culture and ethos that supported the values of dignity and respect, independence, rights, equality and diversity, choice and consent of residents.

The registered manager and residents advised that consent was sought in relation to care and treatment. For example, written consent was obtained for any photographs used for care record identification and social activities.

Discussion and observation of care practice and social interactions demonstrated that residents were treated with dignity and respect. Staff described their awareness of promoting residents' rights; independence, dignity and confidentiality were protected. For example, staff spoke about being able to talk and give time to residents and how this helped form good relationships.

Discussion with staff confirmed that residents' spiritual and cultural needs, including preferences for end of life care, were met within the home.

Action was taken to manage any pain and discomfort in a timely and appropriate manner. This was further evidenced by the inspection of care records, for example, care plans were in place for the management of pain, falls, infection, nutrition, where appropriate.

Residents were provided with information, in a format that they could understand, which enabled them to make informed decisions regarding their life, care and treatment.

Discussion with staff, residents and observation of practice confirmed that residents' needs were recognised and responded to in a prompt and courteous manner by staff. Residents' were listened to, valued and communicated with in an appropriate manner and their views and opinions were taken into account in all matters affecting them. Systems of communication included, care review meetings, residents' meetings, suggestion box, visits by the registered provider and day to day contact with management.

Discussion with staff, residents, observation of practice and review of care records confirmed that residents were enabled and supported to engage and participate in meaningful activities. At the time of this inspection, groups of residents were engage in planned activities, others were enjoying the company of one another or watching television, reading or relaxing.

Arrangements clearly were in place for residents to maintain links with their friends, families and wider community.

The inspectors met with eleven residents at the time of this inspection. In accordance with their capabilities, all confirmed that they were happy with their life in the home, their relationship with staff, activities and the provision of meals. Some of the comments made included statements such as;

- “I love it here. I am very happy.”
- “The staff are all brilliant.”
- “I am just back from holiday in Portrush. We had a great time.”
- “We all are great here. No problems.”
- “I like the staff very much.”

Five completed questionnaires were returned to RQIA from residents’ representatives. Respondents described their level of satisfaction with this aspect of care as very satisfied.

Areas of good practice

There were examples of good practice found throughout the inspection in relation to the culture and ethos of the home, listening to and valuing residents and taking account of the views of residents.

Areas for improvement

No areas for improvement were identified in respect of this domain during the inspection.

6.7 Is the service well led?

Effective leadership, management and governance which creates a culture focused on the needs and experience of service users in order to deliver safe, effective and compassionate care

The registered manager confirmed that the needs of residents were met in accordance with the home’s statement of purpose and the categories of care for which the home was registered with RQIA.

A range of policies and procedures was in place to guide and inform staff. Policies were centrally indexed and retained in a manner which was easily accessible by staff. The registered manager stated that policies and procedures were systematically reviewed every three years or more frequently as changes occurred.

There was a complaints policy and procedure in place which was in accordance with the legislation and Department of Health (DoH) guidance on complaints handling. Residents and/or their representatives were made aware of how to make a complaint by way of the Resident's Guide and information in residents' care records during consultation with care. Discussion with the registered manager confirmed that she was knowledgeable about how to respond to complaints.

RQIA's complaint poster was available and displayed in the home.

Inspection of the complaints records confirmed that arrangements were in place to effectively manage complaints from residents, their representatives or any other interested party. Records of complaints included details of any investigation undertaken, all communication with complainants, the outcome of the complaint and the complainant's level of satisfaction. Arrangements were in place to share information about complaints and compliments with staff. An audit of complaints was used to identify trends, drive quality improvement and to enhance service provision.

The home retains compliments received, e.g. thank you letters and cards and there are systems in place to share these with staff.

There was an accident, incident and notifiable events policy and procedure in place which included reporting arrangements to RQIA. An inspection of these events confirmed that these were effectively documented and reported to RQIA and other relevant organisations in accordance with the legislation and procedures. A regular audit of accidents and incidents was undertaken and was inspected as part of the inspection process. The registered manager advised that learning from accidents and incidents was disseminated to all relevant parties and action plans developed to improve practice.

There was a system to ensure safety bulletins, serious adverse incident alerts and staffing alerts were appropriately reviewed and actioned.

There was evidence of managerial staff being provided with additional training in governance and leadership. The registered manager advised that there was a system to share learning from a range of sources including complaints, incidents, training; feedback was integrated into practice and contributed to continuous quality improvement.

Discussion with the registered manager confirmed that information in regard to current best practice guidelines was made available to staff. Staff were provided with mandatory training and additional training opportunities relevant to any specific needs of the residents.

A visit by the registered provider was undertaken as required under Regulation 29 of The Residential Care Homes Regulations (Northern Ireland) 2005; a report was produced and made available for residents, their representatives, staff, RQIA and any other interested parties to read. An action plan was developed to address any issues identified which include timescales and person responsible for completing the action. The reports of the last two months visits were inspected and found to be satisfactorily maintained.

There was a clear organisational structure and all staff were aware of their roles, responsibility and accountability. This was outlined in the home's Statement of Purpose and Residents' Guide. Discussion with the registered manager identified that she had good understanding of her role and responsibilities under the legislation.

Inspection of the premises confirmed that the RQIA certificate of registration and employer’s liability insurance certificate were displayed.

The home had a whistleblowing policy and procedure in place and discussion with staff confirmed that they were knowledgeable regarding this. Discussion with staff also confirmed that there were good working relationships within the home and that management were responsive to suggestions and/or concerns raised. There were open and transparent methods of working and effective working relationships with internal and external stakeholders.

Five completed questionnaires were returned to RQIA from residents’ representatives. Respondents described their level of satisfaction with this aspect of care as very satisfied.

Areas of good practice

There were examples of good practice found throughout the inspection in relation to governance arrangements, management of complaints and incidents, quality improvement and maintaining good working relationships.

Areas for improvement

No areas for improvement were identified in respect of this domain during the inspection.
