3.0 The inspection

3.1 How we Inspect

RQIA's inspections form part of our ongoing assessment of the quality of services. Our reports reflect how the agency was performing against the regulations and standards, at the time of our inspection, highlighting both good practice and any areas for improvement. It is the responsibility of the provider to ensure compliance with legislation, standards and best practice, and to address any deficits identified during our inspections.

To prepare for this inspection we reviewed information held by RQIA about this agency. This included registration information, and any other written or verbal information received from service users, relatives, staff or the commissioning trust.

Throughout the inspection process inspectors seek the views of the service users/relatives who are in receipt of care and support; the home care workers who work for the agency; and review/examine a sample of records to evidence how the agency is performing in relation to the regulations and standards.

Information was provided to service users, relatives, staff and other stakeholders on how they could provide feedback on the quality of services. This included questionnaires and an electronic survey.

3.2 What people told us about the service and their quality of life

Through active listening, RQIA aims to ensure that the lived experience is reflected in our inspection reports and quality improvement plans.

Service users told us that they enjoyed coming to the Day Centre, that the staff are great and there was nothing they would like to change about the centre.

Staff told us they loved their job, they had no concerns about the Day Centre and felt the manager was approachable. They also shared that they felt confident to raise any concerns and that they found the training to be beneficial.

3.3 Inspection findings

3.3.1 Staffing arrangements

Safe staffing begins at the point of recruitment and continues through to staff induction, regular staff training and ensuring that the number and skill of staff on duty each day meets the needs of service users. There was evidence of robust systems in place to manage staffing.

The manager confirmed that no new staff were recruited since the last inspection. Checks were made to ensure that staff were appropriately registered with NISCC. There was a system in place for professional registrations to be monitored by the manager. Staff spoken with confirmed that they were aware of their responsibilities to keep their registrations up to date.

Records of all staff training were retained and the manager maintained oversight of the training matrix to ensure compliance. This training included Deprivation of Liberties Safeguards (DoLS), adult safeguarding, Dysphagia, at a level appropriate to their job roles and training in Dementia.

Procedures were in place for appraising staff performance and staff confirmed that supervisions and appraisals had taken place.

3.3.2 Care Delivery

Staff were knowledgeable of individual service users' needs, their daily routine wishes and preferences. There was a system in place to ensure that the activities offered to service users were geared towards their individual needs and preferences. Service users' needs were met through a range of individual activities.

Records reviewed evidenced that staff were prompt in recognising service users' needs and any early signs of distress or illness, including those service users who had difficulty in making their wishes or feelings known.

3.3.3 Management of Care Records

Service users' needs were assessed when they were first referred to the agency and before care delivery commenced. Following this initial assessment care plans were developed to direct staff on how to meet service users' needs and included any advice or recommendations made by other healthcare professionals.

Care records were person centred, well maintained, regularly reviewed and updated to ensure they continued to meet the service users' needs. Staff recorded regular evaluations about the care and support provided. Service users, where possible, were involved in planning their own care.

3.3.4 Quality of Management Systems

Miss Michelle Quigley has been the manager in this agency since 14 November 2019. A member of staff commented positively about the manager and described her as supportive, approachable and able to provide guidance.

The agency was visited each month by a representative of the registered provider to consult with service users, their relatives and staff and to examine all areas of the running of the agency. The reports of these visits were completed in detail.

There was a system in place to ensure that complaints were managed in accordance with the agency's policy and procedure. No complaints were received since the last inspection.

A review of incident records identified that no incidents had occurred.

The annual quality report was reviewed and noted to include stakeholder feedback.

Day Centres are required to have a person known as the Adult Safeguarding Champion (ASC), who has responsibility for implementing the regional protocol and the agency's safeguarding policy. A specific individual was identified as the agency's ASC. It was established that good systems and processes were in place to manage the safeguarding and protection of adults at risk of harm.

There was evidence that the manager responded to any concerns, raised with them or by their processes, and took measures to improve practice, the environment and/or the quality of services provided by the agency.
